Date: October 2nd, 2025
Subject: Bausch & Lomb Legacy Discontinuation

◇ Hello AEG Practices!

Over the past several years, the contact lens industry has experienced a significant shift toward silicone hydrogel products. In response to this trend, Bausch & Lomb has discontinued trials of their legacy products.

Since January 2022, these trial lenses are no longer available. Additionally, the catalog for these products is no longer being updated, which has caused ongoing errors within AEG's auto-ordering platform. These lenses also do not support auto-ordering in AcuityLogic and do not fully transfer from EEHR.

As a result, AEG will discontinue revenue boxes for these products effective December 31, 2025.

Next Steps

- For patients currently in these lenses, please encourage them to order annual supplies to finish out their prescriptions before the discontinuation date.
- For any new exams with patients in these lenses, please find the closest medically equivalent counterpart depending on material, dk/t, or replacement schedule requirements.

Upcoming Deadline –

All revenue box orders must be placed no later than December 31st, 2025.

Bausch & Lomb Legacy Discontinuation If you have any further questions, please submit a HelpDesk Ticket to Merchandise team.

Thank you,
